Dear Mr. Dyer,

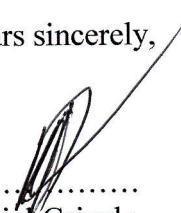

As a part of our efforts to replenish our seven miles of Negril Beach, which has been having severe erosion problems over the years, we have so far secured the services of Smith Warner International and have done primary work including identifying large amounts of compatible sand offshore.

We are now at the point where we have to establish the cost for the replenishing of the seven miles of Negril shoreline. While we have physically identified and quantified the sand required, the company will not accept our assessment, they will only act once a geophysical study has been done. To have this done, we would need to engage the services of an international company as there is no company in Jamaica with such equipment. The cost is approximately Two Hundred and Seventy Thousand U.S. Dollars (US$270,000.00).

We are kindly seeking the assistance of the TEF in our much needed effort to protect and secure our most valuable asset.

Thanks for your kind co-operation.

Yours sincerely,

Daniel Grizzle.
